Fine copy of the very rare narrative of Ulrich Schmidel, who, as a common soldier, accompanied Mendoca and Cabeça de Vaca in their conquest of the countries south of Brazil. When Mendoca visited the Rio de la Plata he named the country Buenos Aires on account of the salubrity of its climate. This book contains the earliest description of the city of Buenos Aires, and has two plates illustrating this description, which are THE EARLIEST ENGRAVED VIEWS OF BUENOS AIRES, one showing the fort, &c., in time of peace, the other an attack on it by Indians.

The fine folding map of South America, dated 1599, often missing, is present in this copy and in fine state. The edges have been strengthened against breakage by a narrow strip of paper pasted all round. The whole book is very clean and in good state. The blank outer margin of page 1 has been repaired.

- This was one of the most remarkable voyages undertaken, and contributed largely to the science of cartography by the number of new discoveries which marked Schouten's course in his circumnavigation of the globe. In this voyage Cape Horn (named after Schouten's native town) was for the first time rounded from the East. The results of the voyage were also profitable commercially, and indeed (to quote from the John Carter Brown Cat. of Americana II., p. 494): "No voyage to the East Indies was more popular in its days, or of which more editions exist than that of Schouten."
